President's Message

By Kevin K. Lee, MD

Kevin K. Lee, MD

I am truly honored to serve as the President of our Florida Urological Society (FUS) for the 2018 - 2019 year. The FUS is comprised of nearly 60% of all practicing urologists in Florida, making us one of the largest state urological societies in the United States, and the largest state urological society in the Southeastern Section of the American Urological Society (SESAUA).

I have spent all my years since residency in Florida in various capacities – first as a solo practitioner in rural Central Florida, later as a University of Florida faculty member in Winter Haven, and now as a member of the Bond Clinic, a multispecialty clinic also in Winter Haven. There were lots of changes and challenges for me during this time, but one thing that has remained constant was and is the FUS. Through networking with academic and private practice urologists, I've made friendships that have stood the test of time and that I hold dear to my heart.

The FUS has also changed during my years as a urologist. I've witnessed the FUS become financially stable and grow the annual scientific session into one of the premier programs for state societies across the nation. Over the last few years, we have become more aware of the political and business sides of the practice of medicine, and we've made some progress in this arena as well. We also promote and cherish our younger members and resident involvement with the Pyleogram competition, and the resident debates have been a great success and fun to watch.

As I look forward to this upcoming year, I would like to continue the work that was done by my predecessor, Dr. Rafael Carrion, and to see what more we can do for practicing urologists in our state – especially those that have only recently embarked on their career journeys.

I would like to echo my immediate predecessor by saying that we need to increase the strength of our collective voice at all levels of organized medicine. We will continue doing this via our delegates to the Florida Medical Association (FMA) and the Florida chapter of the American College of Surgeons (ACS); our representatives to the SESAUA, the American Association of Clinical Urologists (AACU), the AACU State Society Network, and the American Urological Association (AUA); and by continuing to work closely with the Florida Medical Association (FMA). I also encourage our members' to add their voices using the FUS website or email (info@flaurological.org) with any information worth sharing, and I encourage anyone who wishes to be more actively involved to let our board members know.

The ranks of academic urologists are growing. More and more of us are employed than ever before, and these changes bring different needs and challenges for the FUS. Physician burnout has become one of the hot topics of late, and unfortunately, studies are showing that urologists in practice and residency have one of the highest burnout rates. We should have a better-coordinated effort for advocating for all of us in different work settings.

Dr. Carrion, Dr. Julio Gundian, and Dr. Ray Pak have done excellent jobs this past year as President and Chairs of the Scientific Program. The meeting at Saddlebrook was exemplary, and the academic program was truly outstanding. Under the guidance of Dr. Sijo Parekattil, the attendance of our allied health section has been growing every year, and this past year has been no exception.

Our next meeting is going to be in Hyatt Regency Grand Cypress in Orlando. It is a wonderful facility centrally located to all the theme parks that has amenities for the whole family. The meeting will be chaired by Drs. Paul Crispin and Larry Yeung from the University of Florida. We hope to continue the tradition of putting up a great scientific program, and we are already hard at work to provide an excellent meeting for all. So come join us, and bring anyone who is interested in learning about the field of urology.

I would also like to thank WJ Weiser & Associates for doing a great job for the FUS and our exhibitors and sponsors for their continued support.

Sincerely,

Kevin K. Lee, MD

Secretary/Treasurer's Report

Jamin V. Brahmhatt, MD, FACS

First and foremost, I would like to thank the members of the Florida Urological Society for trusting in me to serve as your Secretary/Treasurer. As a practicing urologist in Florida for more than five years, I have seen the immediate and long-term benefits that come with being an active member of the FUS. From networking, continuing education, and to supporting our future generation, our organization provides a solid foundation for professional and personal success. We saw this in full swing at our Annual Meeting this year in Tampa/Wesley Chapel. Kudos to our then president, Dr. Rafael Carrion, and the meeting chairs, Drs. Julio Gundian and Raymond Pak, for organizing a solid scientific program. Just when you thought it couldn't get better our meeting ended with an amazing night at the Florida Aquarium. Just like the fish in the tank that come from all different backgrounds to live in harmony "under the sea," we too come from all different backgrounds, yet are unified on land by the efforts of the Florida Urological Society.

The financial status of our organization is stronger than ever thanks to the support of industry. Even if your local rep was not there physically at our meeting, please remember to thank him or her for their organizations support. Our simple message of gratitude hopefully travels up to key decision makers that will continue to see the positive impact that comes with supporting our annual meeting.

I am excited to be at your service in the years to come. Please do not hesitate to reach out with any feedback or suggestions. Otherwise, I hope to see you soon in Orlando!

Message from the Immediate Past President

Rafael E. Carrion, MD

It has been a privilege to serve as the 2017 – 2018 president of the Florida Urological Society. I first need to thank those who have been supportive at every step along the way, including my loving family, caring friends, extraordinary Board, as well as my invaluable colleagues and associates. As a result, we have moved the association forward as membership continues to grow. Without question, I have enjoyed this past year immeasurably.

Most notably, the 70th Annual Meeting of the Florida Urological Society in Wesley Chapel was a tremendous success and a demonstration of the importance and strength of Urology within our state. I genuinely want to thank Drs. Julio Gundian and Raymond Pak for their efforts to develop and offer an exceptional scientific program. The quality of our local and visiting faculty provided a high caliber educational experience for all. The residents' case presentations were again just outstanding. Best of all, attendees personally noted their appreciation for their positive overall educational experience on numerous occasions.

Furthermore, it was also our honor to recognize Victor A. Politano, MD at this meeting with the 2018 FUS Lifetime Achievement Award. It was a pleasure to witness his former residents, fellows and colleagues speak in recognition of their influential and committed mentor.

On Saturday evening, the group enjoyed a great family event that included sharks, flamenco music, alligators, old and new friendships, penguins and tremendous fun at the FUS annual banquet held at the Florida Aquarium in Tampa Bay. I look forward to next year's 71st meeting of the Florida Urological Society to be held August 29 through September 1, 2019 at the Hyatt Regency Grand Cypress in Orlando! Make sure you save the date for you and your family to attend.

I am certain that the future of the FUS will continue to be a prosperous one and that Dr. Kevin Lee, our incoming president, will serve as an exceptional steward as he works with the membership, Board and committees to further the mission of our society during his tenure.

I also must thank each of you for your membership and your ongoing support. You are the lifeblood of the Florida Urological Society and as I step down from my year as president, I am proud to be your peer.

Nominating Committee Report

By Wade J. Sexton, MD

Overwhelming Number of Highly Qualified Candidates Promises Bright Future

Thank you to Dr. Rafael Carrion for his leadership as Florida Urologic Society (FUS) President over the last year including our wonderful 2018 FUS Annual Meeting. Congratulations as well to Dr. Raymond Pak and to Dr. Julio Gundian for organizing an outstanding academic program at our marquee annual event.

Urologists throughout our state continue to volunteer time and effort to make our organization strong, diverse and relevant to the needs of its members. Many of our members have been strong advocates for the FUS for a number of years and have made tremendous contributions not only to our state society, but also nationally. In addition to benefiting from the wisdom of these FUS members that have been long-term impactful leaders and contributors, every meeting leads to the presence and recognition of new faces eager to share fresh ideas and experiences, as well as a desire to take a more active role in our state urological society. In this regard, there are opportunities to serve on different FUS committees or possibly in some capacity on the FUS Board of Directors.

As one can understand, it takes time to make some inroads into leadership but make no doubt the FUS understands the importance of diversity and the energetic presence of its newest members, while as alluded to above, maintaining appreciation for those who have "been there and done that"! There aren't always enough open positions to meet the desires of the members that have expressed interest in serving in leadership roles. My best advice – stay engaged. Continue to reach out to those on different committees and on the Executive Board (see below). Stay up to date through the FUS website. Watch for email blasts. Attend and actively participate in our annual meetings. Your feedback, interest and participation remain critical to the ongoing efforts and activities of the FUS.

Should you have a desire to be considered for a service position with the FUS – please reach out to me over the next few months (wade.sexton@moffitt.org) or to one of my colleagues on the Nominating Committee. We will make recommendations to the Board to fill needed positions and committees during late spring and early summer 2019 leading into our next annual meeting in Orlando.

FUS NOMINATING COMMITTEE 2018 – 2019

The composition of the FUS Nominating Committee is defined in our Bylaws. There are five voting members, consisting of two members-at-large and the three most recent past presidents. The most senior past president serves as the chair of the committee. The two members-at-large serve staggered two-year terms. For the 2018 – 2019 year, the members of our Nominating Committee will be:

- Wade J. Sexton, MD (Chair)
- *Michael A. Dennis, Jr., MD, FACS (Member at Large)
- Raymond J. Leveillee, MD, FRCS-G (Member at Large)
- Rafael E. Carrion, MD (Past President)
- Rolando Rivera, MD, FACS (Past President)
- *Re-elected on Sept. 2, 2018

APPOINTED POSITIONS

In addition to the elected positions outlined above, the FUS president appoints the Annual Scientific Program Chair and several standing committees, including: Bylaws, Legislative and Government Policy and Membership. If you have an interest in serving on any of these committees, please contact current FUS President Kevin Lee, MD.

PARTICIPATION IN THE FLORIDA UROLOGICAL SOCIETY

The success of our society is based on participation by you, our members. If you would like to nominate a member of our society for a position, or if you would like to be considered for a position yourself, please contact a member of the Nominating Committee.

We would like to thank all of our members who have expressed interest in getting more involved in the FUS. Your interest is appreciated, we thank you for your continued support, and we look forward to seeing you at the Hyatt Regency Grand Cypress in Orlando, Florida on August 29 – September 1, 2019.

Government Relations & Advocacy Update

Ross E. Weber, AACU State Affairs Manager

Florida House, Senate leaders differ on health issues

News Service of Florida reports that incoming House Speaker Jose Oliva wants to expand the scope of practice for Florida nurses, while at the same time limiting government regulation and promoting free-market principles. At least one of those goals - expanding nurses' scope of practice - is opposed by the speaker's counterpart in the Senate, President Bill Galvano, who says legislators must "make sure we are listening to our doctors in terms of what they see in the system." Another item on Speaker Oliva's wish list is limiting the application of certificate of need requirements on health care facilities and services. President Galvano is more cautious on that front, as well, asserting, "I'm open to revisiting it, but I want to make sure we move very cautiously in the health-care realm, because it is not like selling cellphones." (News Service of Florida, Nov 26, 2018)

Certificate of need regs challenged in bone marrow transplant services case

Florida law requires the state Agency for Health Care Administration to review the list of "tertiary health services" on an annual basis to determine if services should be subjected to certificate of need review. During a Nov. 2018 hearing, opposing hospital systems testified on whether bone marrow transplants should remain on that list. The six hospitals where those services can currently be performed argued that BMT are medically complex procedures and should continue to be restricted. The agency's decision will be announced in an eventual rulemaking. It's worth noting that Michigan regulators considered a similar issue earlier this year, determining whether to add adoptive cell transfer therapies, including dendritic cell therapy, to the definition of BMT services.

Insurance board delays vote on consumer protection issues

Florida Insurance Commissioner David Altmaier delayed voting on a number of consumer-protection issues during a Nov. 5 meeting of the Florida Health Insurance Advisory Board. The commissioner pushed the votes to Dec. 13. The board was scheduled to consider allowing patients access to free copies of their medical records and a proposal to ban "balance billing" emergency medical transportation.

Physician victories in the 2018 midterm elections

In the 2018 midterm elections, three new physicians have been elected to Congress. Additionally, the 10 physicians in the House of Representatives, including Florida urologist Dr. Neal Dunn, all won their re-elections, as did the one physician in the Senate up for re-election. New physicians elected to Congress: Pennsylvania Republican John Joyce, MD (dermatologist); Tennessee Republican Mark Green, MD (emergency physician); Washington Democrat Kim Schrier, MD (pediatrician).

Medicare payment reform promotes equity between practice settings

CMS recently finalized laudable proposals for physician and ambulatory surgery center reimbursement in 2019 despite objections from powerful hospital groups and lawmakers. While the final payment rule for 2019 didn't touch the structural difference between ASC and HOPD payments directly, CMS will limit reimbursement for clinic visits in outpatient hospital settings at the rate for clinic visits in physician offices. CMS estimates savings for beneficiaries at $14 per visit and savings for the Medicare program at $760 million for 2019. The hospital industry struck back strong. The American Hospital Association said in a statement that CMS "inappropriately characterizes these clinic visits as 'check-ups'" and that "the reality is that hospitals serve some of the sickest, most medically complex patients in our clinics, evaluating them for everything from metastatic breast cancer to heart failure." The AHA also announced that they will challenge the payment rule in court.

FUS INDUSTRY OPPORTUNITIES

SEEKING PARTNERS COMMITTED TO GROWTH AND EXCELLENCE

Various forms of health care industry support are vital to the overall strength of the Florida Urological Society. Partnership packages are promotional opportunities and, unlike educational grants, appropriate to discuss with your sales representatives. Customized packages offer enhanced exposure at the FUS Annual Meeting, as well as additional marketing opportunities throughout the year. FUS seeks partners who share our commitment to growth and excellence in the field of urology in the state of Florida. We hope to work in tandem with health care industry colleagues to enhance current member programs and implement new projects that will lead to improved patient care through better physician education and mentoring. Please encourage reputable and valued health care industry companies to support FUS and invite representatives to contact JP Baunach (jp@wjweiser.com) for more information.

If you have vendors you do regular business with, please invite them to become more involved with the FUS.

Thank you for doing your part!
